

ReadiTrak™

Asset Readiness Manager

The convenient, web-based solution to track, manage, maintain, and support all of your critical equipment regardless of manufacturer or location.

Be better prepared.

A successful response to an emergency requires that the equipment is operational and ready to go. Most teams have equipment from a wide range of manufacturers, each requiring its own calibration and preventative maintenance procedures. In addition, equipment is often spread out over multiple locations. With all of the other responsibilities, it is difficult or impossible to efficiently manage and monitor the status of this equipment.

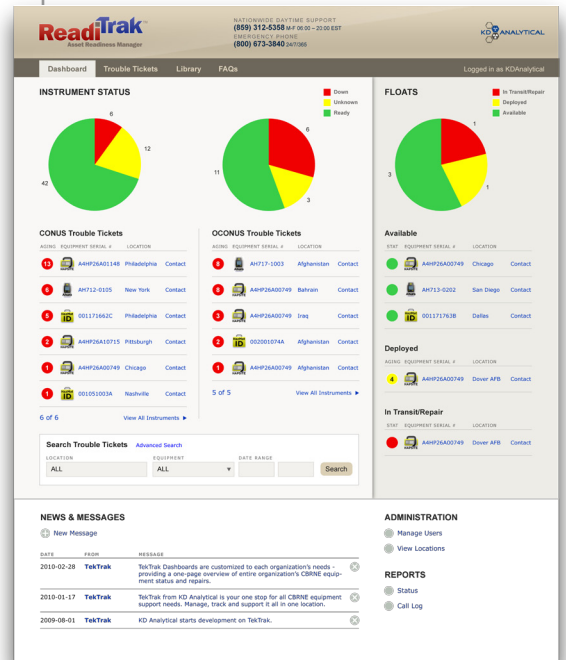

Until now, when there was a question or problem with equipment, users have had to contact each manufacturer separately for support. Problems often happen during an emergency and outside business hours, manufacturers are not always available to take calls without paying for expensive 24/7 support contracts.

KD Analytical developed ReadiTrak™ in response to these needs. This web-based tool allows users and managers to quickly and efficiently manage, track and get support for all of their critical equipment regardless of the manufacturer and across multiple locations.

Take advantage of our expertise.

As the primary technical support for a variety of critical equipment for multiple branches of the DoD, KD Analytical has years of experience managing and supporting equipment. KD utilized this experience to develop ReadiTrak™ as a comprehensive management and support tool.

Whether you're a Volunteer Fire Department with some SCBA and a few gas meters or a branch of the military with bases all over the world, ReadiTrak™ will finally make the management and support of your critical equipment simple.
